Why whisky barrels?

The whisky has significantly reduced the tannins of the barrel without closing the pores of the barrel. The wine can benefit from improved micro-oxygenation with reduced tannins and subtle vanilla notes. The wine gets a round and creamy texture on the palate. Minimal residual flavors of the whiskey, from the pores of the wood increase the complexity and complexity of the wine.

TASTING

Very aromatic wine, with nuances of ripe black fruit, spices, chocolate, toasted nuances (smoke). Structured in the mouth with sweet tannins, with a lot of volume and a pleasant finish.
